Nation Uniting To Achieve Lasting Peace

HARMONY NOTE TOUCHED OFF BY GOV. DEWEY

Partisan Differences Put Aside To Concentrate On Winning War
CABINET SHIFT TALKED
Quick Moves To Create World Peace Council Are Anticipated

NEW YORK, Nov. 9—President Roosevelt, overwhelmingly re-elected to a fourth term, can look forward today to widespread support of his plea to the American people to "unite to win the war and to achieve lasting peace."

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, defeated Republican nominee, touched off a harmony note for the post-election period by wishing the President success in winning the war and solving the peace. From all sections of the nation, there arose evidence that the American people have put aside partisan differences in the election to concentrate on martial victory.

The President's great victory brought speculation over the future. There was talk of cabinet changes, quick moves to create a world peace organization and social security expansion when congress reconvenes next Tuesday.

Candidates to Rest
The President and Gov. Dewey are both expected to take time off from their official duties to rest up from the rigors of their campaigns. The President's rest very likely will be "off the record" as it has been in the past.

Mr. Roosevelt gave Gov. Dewey a bad beating in the electoral college but ran behind his popular pluralities of previous elections. The electoral vote, with 266 needed for victory, was:

Roosevelt: 35 states with 413 votes.
Dewey: 13 states (including Michigan) with 118 votes.
Their popular vote today was:
Roosevelt: 23,411,657
Dewey: 20,701,437.

Control Of Congress
The President retained Democratic control of congress but by a smaller margin than in 1940. The new and 1940 lineups are:

Senate		House
New	40	New	40
Dem.	58	Dem.	238
Rep.	37	Rep.	194
Others	1	Others	3

Actually, over the 1942 and interim elections, the Democrats gained 23 seats in the house, but merely held their own in the senate.

The presidential campaign was accompanied by some shakeups in governorships. The Democrats gained governors in Ohio, Massachusetts, Missouri, Washington, (Continued on Page Two)

Budget Board Plans Slight Increase In Cash for Circleville

The city of Circleville and city schools will receive slightly more money for their general funds in 1945 than they did in 1944, it was decided Thursday as budget hearings were started by the county budget commission.

Commission members said the increases in the general fund were made possible by decreases in the amount of money to be received for bond retirement purposes. Both paid off some bonds in 1944 and will need less for this purpose in 1945.

The city school general fund will receive $68,435.80 and bond retirement fund $7,149.90. The city will receive $47,131.40 and $14,427.90 for bond retirement.

Total tax rate in the city for 1945 will be 17.5 mills, an increase of one mill. The additional mill is for the agricultural levy passed by a large majority at the Tuesday election.

The city taxes will be distributed as follows: inside the 10-mill limitation, county general fund, 2.4 mills; township, 3 mill; schools, 1.9 mills; Circleville, 5.4 mills; outside levies are, county, 1 mill; schools, 5.5 mills, city 1 mill.

Rates in the different townships vary, according to the amount of special levies in effect in each. Distribution of funds in each will be announced following the result of budget hearings which will continue through Tuesday.

WOMEN TRAIN IN JAPAN WITH BAMBOO SPEARS

NEW YORK, Nov. 9—Japanese women are being trained to defend their homeland with bamboo spears, Tokyo radio revealed today.

"Women's bamboo spear units," according to the Japanese broadcast heard by FCC, form part of the national defense corps, inaugurated last September in a drive to mobilize Nippon's "100,000,000 people."

BIG PROBLEMS LOOM ON WORLD, DOMESTIC FRONT

New Deal Victory Certain To Bring Far-Reaching Vital Decisions

FDR FACES STIFF TASK

Peace By Force Proposal Likely To Meet With Opposition In Congress

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9—The fourth New Deal victory today was seen certain to bring far-reaching executive and legislative action in the next 12 months both on international and domestic fronts.

Paramount immediate non-war objective of President Roosevelt appeared to be completion of the Dumbarton Oaks plan for an international "peace by force" plan with senate ratification within six months.

An early meeting of Mr. Roosevelt, Marshal Stalin and Prime Minister Churchill is expected, both to solve war problems and to finally frame a peace plan under which an international armed force could be speedily summoned against aggressors.

Despite stinging defeat of so-called "isolationist" senators, the President may still face a stiff task to obtain senate consent to the plan to authorize an American delegate to order armed forces into action without specific approval of congress.

Momentous Decisions

Momentous decisions on the domestic front, involving the vital problem of inflation and conversion to peace production after victory, confronted the 4th New Deal.

The New Deal sweep strengthens the President's hand in the next congress, but it still appeared probable that a Republican-Southern Democratic coalition can block many measures.

An early National War Labor Board decision on labor's demands to break the "Little Steel" formula rests with the President. A compromise plan under which labor will get an increase less than that demanded appeared likely.

The decision was a difficult one. A generous boost would bring charges of a pay-off to labor for election support. A refusal to lift wages might bring repercussions from labor.

Results Of Victory

Other results of the New Deal victory included:

1. Social security tax rise of one per cent each on employer and employee almost certain to go into effect Jan. 1. The President, who (Continued on Page Two)

GERMANS MAKE STRONG CLAIMS FOR NEW BOMBS

LONDON, Nov. 9—The southern counties of England, including the London area, were harassed during the night by new flying bomb attacks, the ministry of home security disclosed today.

The German radio, continuing the propaganda campaign concerning the capabilities of the new "V-II" weapon which they claim to be deadlier than the V-I buzz bombs, asserted meanwhile that attacks by the V-II and other secret weapons soon will be intensified.

"The explosive power of V-II is greater than any other used so far against England," the Nazi transmitter asserted.

The London Daily Express said that according to reports from Sweden and other neutral quarters, the V-II is a missile 50 feet long, weighs 15 tons and is capable of reaching a speed of 4,000 miles an hour.

A dispatch to the Daily Mirror quoted Swedish reports saying the new rockets carry 70 tons of propellant and between 20 and 25 tons of explosives.

Three Democrats, Six Republicans Selected For Ohio State Offices

COLUMBUS, Nov. 9—Final returns from Tuesday's election filtered into the secretary of state's office today to show that more than 3,000,000 Ohioans again had exercised their traditional right to scratch their ballots.

They named three Democrats, paced by Governor-elect Frank J. Lausche, and six Republicans, including U. S. Sen. Robert A. Taft and Congressman-at-large George H. Bender, as their favorites on the state ticket.

By a very slim margin they also voted for the unsuccessful Dewey-Bricker presidential ticket, thus marking the first time since 1892 that Ohio has not cast its 25 electoral ballots for the winning candidate. Ohio, is one of 13 states which did not aid in voting a fourth term to President Roosevelt.

Lausche Easy Winner

Lausche, son of an immigrant steel worker who will be 49 next Tuesday and who now is the smiling, soft-spoken mayor of Cleveland, racked up a margin of nearly 100,000 votes over the Republican gubernatorial nominee, Mayor James Garfield Stewart of Cincinnati. An avalanche of Democratic votes from industrial northeastern Ohio—probably inspired by the CIO's Political Action Committee—overcame the rural lead Stewart built up in the 70 of the 88 counties he carried.

The voters also named Democrats George D. Nye of Waverly as lieutenant governor over Herbert Hoover of Columbus, and gave Joseph T. Ferguson of Barberton a third four-year term as auditor over the challenge of Republican Roger W. Tracy of Columbus, son of former State Auditor Joseph Tracy who was displaced by Ferguson in 1936.

Switch To GOP Side

They then switched to the Republican side of the ballot to give a fourth term to State Treasurer Don H. Ebricht of Akron—who thus emerges as the GOP's most likely gubernatorial candidate two years hence—over Harry V. Armstrong of La Rue; re-elected Secretary of State Edward J. Hummel of Cincinnati to a second term over A. Lee Fair of Millersburg; and picked Hugh S. Jenkins of Youngstown, former chairman of the state tax appeals board and administrator of the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation, as their attorney general over George A. Hurley of Cleveland.

U. S. Sen. Robert A. Taft was re-elected by a 20,000-vote margin despite the PAC backing of former Lieut. Gov. William G. Pickrel of Dayton, and Congressman-at-large George H. Bender easily disposed of the challenge of William Glass.

SCHOOL CHUMS QUESTIONED IN GIRL MURDER

SALEM, Mass., Nov. 9—School chums of Marie Rose Lacombe, brutally murdered 14-year-old Salem high school sophomore, were to be questioned today as a medical examination disclosed the young girl had been ravished and beaten to death.

The body of Marie Rose, known as a shy girl among her classmates, was discovered near the high school football field. She had died of a fractured skull, Medical Examiner Ralph Foss said. Foss added that although a white scarf had been tightened about the girl's neck, it was of flimsy material, and that Marie had not been strangled.

Hugh A. Gregg, district attorney said an autopsy had revealed the girl had been criminally attacked. He said the girl was last seen at 8:15 p. m. Sunday night walking through Town House square and asked that any person who might have seen her after that time to come forward.

Marie was a homebody, according to her parents, and did not have a "boy friend." She was murdered Sunday night, but her body was not discovered until yesterday. The scene of the crime was less than a mile and a half from where the mutilated remains of Frances Cochran, 19, of Lynn, were discovered in 1941. The murder of Miss Cochran has never been solved.

Yamashita, according to the Tokyo radio, made the haughty statement to Jose P. Laurel, puppet president of the Philippines.

Loses Four Of Five

MRS. Alben Borgstrom of Tremonton, Utah, had five sons in the service. One died, a second was killed. And then a third was killed. After the three had died she appealed to the U. S. Marine Corps to give her fifth son an honorable discharge. The fifth boy, Pvt. Boyd Borgstrom, has been discharged but the happiness over that has been dimmed by word that her fourth son, Pfc. Fulon Borgstrom, has been killed in action.

The smashing assault by General Patton's forces grew in significance when three additional divisions were hurled into the battle this morning.

Another trio of Third Army divisions, comprising the 12th corps, launched the drive on a 27-mile front southeast of Metz. They penetrated German defenses as far as three miles in some instances, capturing 14 towns and crossing the Seille river at several points.

Strike Near Metz
The three fresh divisions then struck north of Metz. One column crossed the Moselle river at two places. The northern pincer of General Patton's drive was reported gaining ground.

The new Third Army attack was described officiously as a "local nature."

It was considered significant that the enemy made no counter-attack. As yet no German armor has been encountered.

Marauder bomber formations are assisting the ground forces by attacking road junctions and barracks. Both sides are using heavy artillery.

MARINE GETS HIS REVENGE FROM HOSPITAL

SOMEWHERE IN THE PACIFIC—(Delayed)—Wounded on Guam before he could fire a shot, Marine Private First Class Joseph J. Yunker, 28, of Hoboken, N. J., avenged himself when the Japs attacked the Third Marine division hospital.

Yunker had been treated for his injury and was lying in a tent ward when the attack came. He spotted a sniper in a tree and, ignoring his painful wounds raised himself to pick up a rifle another patient had left about the tent.

He raised the rifle stock on his pillow, aimed carefully, and fired. The sniper toppled dead from his perch.

MacArthur Answers Boast Of Jap General—Soviets Poise For New Blows

By International News Service
Two American armies smashed forward today on the Western front.

The First Army, under Lieut. Gen. Courtney Hodges, gained new ground in bitter fighting near Vossenack, southeast of Aachen.

The Third Army, headed by Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton, hammered through enemy positions north and southeast of Metz. Enemy opposition was heavy in the Aachen area. Germans fought bitterly to prevent the First Army breaking through the Hurtgen forest on to the plains that lie before Cologne. General Hodges' troops maintained their attacks, however. They scored gains south of Vossenack and west of the town of Hurtgen. Most of embattled Vossenack was in American hands. Other Yank troops mopped up Nazi resistance pockets west of the village of Schmidt.

TWO GOVERNORS ADDED TO LIST OF DEMOCRATS

NEW YORK, Nov. 9—The Democratic party gained two governors from the Republicans in nearly complete returns from Tuesday's election, and may gain a third, with further upsets possible in late counting of service ballots.

The Democrats gained in Massachusetts, Idaho, Missouri and Ohio, while the Republicans replaced Democrats in Indiana and North Dakota. In Washington the contest between Sen. Mon Walgren, Democrat, and Gov. Arthur Langlie may not be settled until counting of service ballots Dec. 5.

The Republicans gained comfort from the fact that their losses were not as heavy as at first indicated. The election has reduced the number of GOP governors from 26 to 24, with a possible additional loss.

Counting of service ballots could affect the apparent reelection of Gov. Vivian in Colorado and Gov. Maw in Utah.

Big state Democratic victories embraced Massachusetts, Ohio and Missouri. Biggest Republican prizes were reelection of governors in Michigan, Illinois and Wisconsin and taking of the governorship in Indiana.

and Idaho but lost out to Republicans in Indiana and North Dakota. This leaves the new lineup of governors: 25 Democrats, 23 Republicans, a net gain of three for the Democrats. The GOP however retains its holdover governors in New York, Pennsylvania and New Jersey, while re-electing Republican governors in Illinois and Michigan.

Unity Sought
The President, from Hyde Park, urged a united war front. He praised the participation of the people on so great a scale in a wartime election as proving democracy was a "living vital force" and urged "to that faith let us unite to win the war and to achieve a lasting peace."

Strangely enough, while Gov. Dewey was beaten overwhelmingly in the electoral college, he ran so strong a national race that his party is stronger today than when Wendell Willkie went down to defeat in 1940. This helped greatly in overcoming election bitterness, even though a few spots of post-election rancor remained.

GOP Healthy
The election left the GOP perfectly healthy and with a militant minority in congress. Already some of its seers are looking forward to 1948 but their number does not include Governor Dewey. The defeated 1944 nominee waved aside all questions about his political future and when asked specifically about "next time," he dodged with a neat "it's been a lot of fun this time."

Dewey's great wartime race however leaves him a potent 1948 figure if he can win re-election as New York's governor two years hence. He will only be 46 in 1948. There is much talk of a cabinet shakeup in the very near future. One change anticipated is the substitution of Democratic National chairman Robert E. Hannegan for Postmaster General Frank C. Walker, who would like to return to his private business. Talk of Secretary of State Cordell Hull resigning has always been premature in the past. Only ill health would take him out of the cabinet on the eve of the greatest diplomatic events in history.

Perkins May Quit
Early retirement of Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins is expected and Mrs. Anna Rosenberg, New York regional war manpower director, is widely touted as her successor. Mrs. Rosenberg is a favorite of the President and has undertaken many private missions for him. On a recent occasion, she visited the war front in Europe.

There is speculation too over the part to be played by Sidney Hillman in the cabinet but others assert he prefers to remain out of public office but to serve as an adviser to the President. Most Democrats expect Hillman to wield a lot of influence in Washington in the fourth term.

There is one curious aftermath of the election. It now develops that Dewey's advisers were never truly confident of victory. Throughout the campaign, while they hoped to win, they always had the feeling that it would be impossible to oust a wartime president in the midst of global war—especially after the President so openly assumed his constitutional role of commander-in-chief.

FDR ELECTION HEALS BREACH FOR MAN, WIFE

CHICAGO, Nov. 9.—The re-election of President Roosevelt had happy domestic repercussions in Chicago today.

When Mrs. Edith W. Olson, 28, sued for divorce recently, charging her husband, Arthur, 31, with cruelty, Judge Michael Feinberg put the case over until Dec. 20 as a "cooling off" period.

The result of the election was told Judge Feinberg by Olson's lawyer, Irving Eisenman, who said: "Your idea worked, your honor. Olson went to visit his wife and they listened to the election returns. They were so happy when President Roosevelt won that Mrs. Olson has decided to drop her divorce suit."

General MacArthur's answer to Yamashita's boast, broadcast by radio Tokyo, was the announcement that American troops captured a strategic range overlooking the west coast of Leyte island where a battered Japanese force is entrapped near Ormoc. battle areas to blast Nazi command posts and defense positions. The Herculean attack evidently surprised the Germans. They apparently expected the Third Army to await more advantageous weather. General Patton's troops simply plodded on through the mud and rain, driving the enemy from the town of Eply, 15 miles south of Metz, from Kaucourt, Mailli-Sur-Seille, from Malancourt, Frennes and Jallaucourt, and from Moyenvic, Moncourt and Bezange Le Petit.

Thunderous artillery barrages and explosions made "the earth tremble," according to German reports. The Nazi Transoceanic Agency described General Patton's advance as a "grand offensive." A German broadcast said thousands of guns were ablaze and thousands of tanks were rolling forward from Metz to Diedenhofen, and that Nazi defenders in the western Maginot line are awaiting the order to counter-attack.

Churchill Optimistic
Prime Minister Winston Churchill told the lord mayor's banquet gathering in London today that the prospects for a meeting among President Roosevelt, Marshal Stalin and himself have been vastly improved as a result of the American elections.

Churchill declared the Allies have gained the double victory of thrusting vanguards of troops onto German soil and, for the time being, practically effacing the U-boat menace.

"No one can be blamed, provided he does not slacken his efforts for a moment, for hoping that victory may come to the Allies and peace may come to Europe in 1945," Churchill added.

EDWARD MCGINNIS DIES IN ZANESVILLE HOSPITAL

Edward McGinnis, 73, Chester Hill, Ohio, father of Mary Jane McGinnis, 115 1/2 West Main street, Circleville, died Wednesday in Bethesda hospital, Zanesville.

Also surviving are his wife, Sadie, and one son, Paul, Wayne, Ohio.

Funeral will be held at 2 p. m. Friday at Stone's funeral home in Chester Hill.

CAR FERRY PLANNED
JACKSONVILLE, Fla. — The Gulf Atlantic Transportation Co. is planning an automobile ferry service linking Key West with islands of the West Indies and connecting Cuba with Mexico, company officials have announced.

In the United States in spite of a monthly turnover of approximately six out of every 100 employees, more pounds of airplanes per month now are being produced per employee, due to better production techniques.

gressional delegation, although losing three seats—in the third, 14th and 16th districts—to cut their margin from 20-3 to 17-6. The 86th General Assembly also will remain Republican, although not so overwhelmingly as the 85th, with the senate divided 20-13 and the house about 86-50 in the Republicans' favor.

Party lines also were ignored in the supreme court judicial ballot with the three incumbents who were seeking re-election to the high court winning new terms.

Judges Edward S. Matthias and William L. Hart easily disposed of the challenges of Charles H. Hubbell of Cleveland and former Attorney General Herbert S. Duffy of Columbus respectively, but Chief Justice Carl V. Weygant had to repeat his performance of six years ago, as a flood of votes from his own Cuyahoga county again was needed to turn the tide of downstate sentiment in favor of Walter Wanamaker of Akron.

LOCAL AIRMAN HELPS UNIT WIN FRENCH MEDAL

AT A MEDITERRANEAN BOMBER BASE—The 12th Air Force B-26 Marauder group of Staff Sgt. Frank G. Moore, 338 East Mill street, Circleville, Ohio has been awarded the Croix de Guerre with palm by the French government for precision attacks on bridges in support of the French ground forces in Italy.

Oldest medium bomber outfit in the Mediterranean theatre, the group was cited in an order by General Charles De Gaulle commending an entire Marauder wing. It is the only AAF unit to be decorated in this war by both the United States and French governments, having previously been cited twice by President Roosevelt for the accuracy of its attacks on Rome and Florence rail yards.

General MacArthur's answer to Yamashita's boast, broadcast by radio Tokyo, was the announcement that American troops captured a strategic range overlooking the west coast of Leyte island where a battered Japanese force is entrapped near Ormoc. Yamashita also could hear MacArthur's reply in a shattering barrage of artillery hammering hastily constructed Japanese defenses in the Ormoc valley.

YANKS TOO BUSY TO THINK ABOUT VOTING AT HOME

WITH THE U. S. THIRD ARMY, Nov. 8, (Delayed)—Lieut. Gen. George Patton's offensive on the Seale river front in France kept the Yanks so busy that they had no time to think about the results of the election back home.

Some were asked what they thought of President Roosevelt's re-election. Most of them looked up half surprised and one said something like:

"Oh, yeah! He is in again?"

Then they got on with the business of fighting the war.

upon the guilty German land a hail of fire and explosion of ever-increasing fury. We have had our own experience and we know how severe the ordeal may be, but I can assure you that we have not suffered one tenth and we shall not suffer one tenth of what is being meted out to those who first started and developed this cruel and merciless form of attack."

Arthur C. Barr, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Barr, 146 Town street, will have a birthday anniversary November 13 and would appreciate cards from his friends. His address is: Arthur C. Barr, AOM 2/c, C. A. S. U-26, Box 65, V. F. Ordinance, Fleet P. O., New York, N. Y. Barr has been in service more than two years.

Lieutenant Edward C. Ebert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Ebert, 121 North Washington street, has been transferred from Westover, Mass., and his new address is:

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

By Drew Pearson

Army engineers were able to get exact measurements of the bridges which they knew would be destroyed by the retreating Nazis. Each part was numbered, and special assembly crews, trained in England, rehearsed the job of putting them in place.

When the invasion came, these bridges traveled so close behind our advancing armies that they were frequently ahead of the field kitchens. And on arrival at a destroyed bridge, its replacement was a matter of hours.

COOL WITNESS BEFORE SENATORS

Least ruffled witness before a Congressional committee in a long time was George K. Simmons, publisher of the Philadelphia Trade Union News.

This is the sheet which first published the story linking Sidney Hillman with a group of New York racketeers, plus the series of pictures which put President and Mrs. Roosevelt, Fanny Perkins and other high Government officials alongside Lepke, Gurrah and various members of Murder, Inc., some of whom have now been electric-chaired.

Simmons appeared last week before the Senate Campaign Expenditures Committee. Masterhead of his Trade Union News lists E. B. Faunce as "Publisher and Managing Editor." Asked to identify Faunce, Simmons said he was the printshop foreman. Simmons himself is editor—with no editorial staff.

Although Simmons published the Hillman story, he did not attempt to check the facts. He did, however, publish a box stating that the editors of the Trade Union News had gone to great pains to get the story and give their readers the facts. He admitted, under questioning by Senator Joe Ball, that this was published "just to impress the readers."

Asked the circulation of the paper, Simmons replied, "I told you gentlemen 20,000. Actually, it's about 2,000." Senator Homer Ferguson sharply remarked that Simmons had earlier said, "20,000 while under oath."

When Ball quizzed him about his staff—or, rather, his lack of staff—Simmons explained that he Private First Class Milo Mack Wise, ASN 3562981, son of Mr. and Mrs. Talmer Wise, East Franklin street, has a new address: 4052 A. F. B. U., Replacement Depot, A. S. C. T. C., Fresno, 2, Cal. His wife, the former Dorothy Sorensen, is making her home for the present in Circleville with Mr. and Mrs. Wise. She arrived in the city the first of this week.

The promotion of William Goode, Jr., from the grade of sergeant to staff sergeant, was announced recently "somewhere in England" by Major General Hugh J. Knerr, commanding general of the Air Service Command, United States Strategic Air Forces in Europe. S/Sgt. Goode is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Goode, Sr., of Washington township. Before entering service, S/Sgt. Goode was an employee of the Container Corporation of America at the Circleville plant. He attended Washington township high school.

Private Clark Gibson has returned to Camp Springs Air Base, Washington, D. C., after passing a 12-day furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Gibson, Kings-ton Route 2.

After passing a 10-day leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Mace, Williamsport Route 2, Seaman 2/c Eugene W. Mace, 21, who recently completed his boot training, has returned to Camp Peary, Va. He is a graduate of Clarksburg high school and was engaged in farming before entering the U. S. Navy July 24, 1944.

Captain and Mrs. O. W. Postance, Keesler Field, Miss., and did not need a staff because the paper prints only labor news. "I see," Ball replied, looking at the screaming headlines linking Hillman with gangsters. "Nothing sensational."

"No, nothing sensational," Simmons grinned back, enjoying the whole situation.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

The Senate Small Business Committee recently issued a buyers' guide for surplus war property—a catalogue of war goods to help businessmen purchase different types of surplus Government property. Next day, the committee got a call from the office of North Dakota's Senator Nye. One of his constituents, learning of the catalogue, had wired Nye to instruct the Senate Small Business Committee to send her an electric iron—Broadcasters have been stampeded by the plan to William Benton and Joe Weiner to operate a frequency modulation radio service on a subscription basis, free of advertising. Commercial radio men now are either trying to do up a way of blocking this service, or looking for some way in which they can participate.

For Coughs, Chest Colds, Bronchitis

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Soldiers' Wives and Returning Husbands

You may have seen in the papers where a writer cautioned Army wives that their returning husbands would be "strangers" to them—because they've been through experiences that their wives could never share.

Well, a high-ranking officer wrote an answer to that; he called it nonsense. "What do our men want most? To finish the war and come home... What are they fighting for?...for everything the word home means."

Of course, the word "home" means something different to every fighting man. For home is a lot of little things! A garden or a work bench—well-thumbed books... a mellow glass of beer with friends.

But whatever they are, it's the memory of these small familiar things that he takes with him into battle. And it's these little things that link his thoughts to home—and to the familiar life that he looks forward to returning to.

PEACE PRINCE CONTEST TO BE HELD SUNDAY

The Prince of Peace Declamation contest conducted throughout the state under the auspices of the Ohio Council of Churches will be held in Emmett's Chapel Sunday at 7 p. m. The Rev. Sam C. Elsea is the pastor of the church.

The following high school boys and girls will participate in the contest: Patty Wolfe, Carolyn Wright, Helen Riffel, Mary Penn, Bonnie Dearth, Pauline Huffer, Robert Wilson and Martha Sharrett.

Each one has memorized an oration chosen from the official Book of Selections published by the Ohio Council of Churches and will deliver that oration. Judges have been chosen to pick the winner who will receive a bronze medal from the Ohio Council of Churches and who will represent Pickaway township school in the county contest to be held early in December.

The winner of the county contest will receive a silver medal and will represent Pickaway County in the district contest.

The winner of the latter contest will compete in the state contest for awards as follows: first prize, four year free tuition college scholarship and $200 in cash; second prize, two year free tuition scholarship and $100 in cash; third prize, one year free tuition scholarship and $50 in cash.

More than 500 churches in the state will hold similar contests Sunday night. This is the twentieth annual series of contests in Ohio and many other states are now participating in the enterprise.

MOMENT OF SILENCE

An Armistice Day Message

New fields of poppies have sprung out of old battle-grounds. Fresh rows of white crosses mingle with the weathered gray ones of World War I. Sons of the men of 1918 are scarring and reddening the same fields where their fathers fought.

What are our thoughts as we observe Armistice Day again in the midst of war?

We are thinking of our obligation to the dead, to the living, and to the unborn. Nazi tyranny and barbarism must be ended forever. We must win a peace that will last.

We pray that our strength and our judgment will be equal to the task.

CLARE PROMISES TO COOPERATE ON PEACE PLANS

GREENWICH, Conn., Nov. 9.—Rep. Clare Boothe Luce (R), re-elected by a narrow margin, said today she would support President Roosevelt, who campaigned against her, "on every measure which will hasten victory and insure a just and lasting peace."

"The purge that failed," she added, "leaves us without rancor or malice."

Declaring she respected the honest convictions of those who opposed her, she said that in the elections she wasn't running against her opponent, Miss Margaret E. Connors, "but against the New Deal and the CIO Political Action Committee."

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND
By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—One of the most important documents bearing on the post-war world soon will be issued by the British Government in the form of a White Paper. It will be a survey of Britain's financial position and a frank admission that she is bankrupt.

The White Paper will tell in detail how British investments throughout the world have been liquidated to pay for the war and will come to the conclusion that, if the British Empire is to continue free trading, she must have outside help.

The alternative to free trade and free competition, the White Paper will say, is a system of barter, restricted trade and cartels, such as that practiced by Germany after the last war. International cartels, of course, have been blasted publicly by President Roosevelt and one British corporation, Imperial Chemical Industries, already has been prosecuted by the Justice Department on a charge of conspiring with the Du Ponts before the war to control the world production of certain chemicals.

According to inside word from the diplomatic corps, the publication of Britain's frank survey of her bankrupt financial position will coincide with the secret conferences now taking place here between Lord Keynes and U. S. officials regarding the renewal of lend-lease.

With the war in Europe nearing a close and with U. S. forces now getting a greater proportion of war supplies direct from the United States, British war needs for lend-lease are dwindling. However, the British have proposed, in Lord Keynes' private conversations, a new type of post-war lend-lease whereby the British could resell goods to foreign countries in order to re-establish their export trades.

Word leaking from the diplomatic corps is that Lord Keynes now proposes a total lend-lease allotment to Great Britain of six and a half billions for 1945, of which three and a half billions could be re-exported in British trade. Most of this would be in the form of American raw materials which the British would process into finished goods and then sell. The British do not propose that finished American products be given them for re-export, but only that they get lend-leased raw materials to revive their crippled industries.

One proposal is to set up a new post-war lend-lease court composed of one Britisher and two Americans which would decide which goods could be used for British trading purposes.

The whole plan will be submitted to Congress probably before Christmas, and promises to be full of controversy.

NOTE—General Pat Hurley and Jim Landis, U. S. economic administrator in Cairo, both submitted scorching reports on the use of British lend-lease in the Near East, claimed it was being used to bolster British trade. Recently, however, Landis has become satisfied.

ARMY'S PRE-FABRICATED BRIDGES

One of the great but little known stories of the Western front is the way in which Army engineers got a group of bridge experts together nearly two years ahead of the European invasion and designed fabricated sections of bridges which would exactly replace specific bridges in France, Holland and Belgium.

DIET AND HEALTH Purpose Of Tonsils A Medical Mystery

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.

THE NEWS comes that our military and naval doctors are having some anxiety with epidemics of tonsillitis. The number of lost man hours directly attributable to inflammations of the throat and tonsils is always a problem sometimes even serious enough to slowup military operations for a few days. Methods of shortening the length of the disease by chemical therapy, such as sulfa drugs, have been used quite successfully.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

Of course this military experience is just an extension for the doctors of the troubles they have with tonsils and have had with them for years on the home front long before it became the home front and when it was just home.

Just what the tonsils do is a mystery. Presumably they have some function, but it is hard to figure out what it is. They have not even the function of being ornamental, as eyebrows have, because except when the mouth is wide open as in the dentist's office and the Senate, they cannot be seen at all.

Lymphatic Tissue

In structure they are lymphatic tissue. In the form of islands, or lymph nodes, this tissue is scattered all over the body. It is definitely associated with the over-coming of infection. Bacteria, or germs, which light in lymphatic tissue usually get killed off with neatness and dispatch. Sometimes, of course, if the battle is a severe one, the lymph node itself gets pretty well snarled up and partially destroyed and shows up as an enlargement under the skin—called by the oldtimers "kernels" in the neck or groin or armpit.

But exactly how lymphatic tissue exposed in the back of the throat can overcome an infection is more or less a puzzle. The tonsils and adenoids become the seat of infection all right but when they do they are more of a nuisance than a help to the body economy.

The lymphatic tissue also is part of the blood system having to do with one form of the white cells but while the tonsils and adenoids play their part in this function along with the rest of the nodes, they are certainly not necessary to the process because the body already has more tissue of this kind than it needs for blood building purposes.

Theory About Tonsils

Still another theory that has been advanced about them is that they supply an internal secretion, but this can hardly be true because we have records of thousands of human beings whose tonsils and adenoids were removed in early life and suffered no consequences in the way of health, growth or intelligence.

One phenomenon about them is worth knowing by beginning mothers and fathers. They are very large at birth and constantly atrophy and recede through life.

The new mother may look in the baby's mouth and find these red, spongy masses filling the entire back of the throat, and then by comparison she looks in papa's throat and can't see any at all, and she may rush to the conclusion that there is something very serious about the matter with junior. But such is not the case. It is perfectly natural for junior to have big tonsils which look as if they would not allow him to swallow.

The question as to whether the tonsils should come out or not is a moot one. There is no question that they are natural breeding places for infection and tonsillitis is a potentially dangerous disease. Certainly there could be no argument that after the first real attack of tonsillitis the tonsils should come out, because one attack predisposes to others.

Answer: The carbohydrate and calories of beer will supply material for milk, but we do not advise alcoholic beverages for a nursing mother.

After a moment Nugent asked, "Who do you think shot Craig?" Again the defiance went out of Drue. She shook her head. "I don't know. I don't know..."

"Don't know! Of course, you don't know! It's an obvious attempt to divert your inquiry, Lieutenant. I'm surprised that you can't see through this girl's story." Soper came close to Drue, his face red and threatening, shaking a pudgy but forceful forefinger under her nose. "Now, you see here, Miss. We want the truth. You did quarrel with Conrad Brent, didn't you?"

"I didn't quarrel with him. I asked him to permit me to stay and take care of Craig."

"You quarreled with him! You were heard yesterday afternoon when he tried to send you away. You blamed him for breaking up your marriage. You came here in the hope of getting young Brent back again. But his father wouldn't let you, so—you killed him."

Drue's face wasn't white any more; two scarlet flames were in her cheeks, her eyes flashed. "I came here to nurse Craig," she said. "And he was my husband until his father—"

"Drue, Drue!" I cried. "Arrest her, Nugent. I insist upon it. I'll make you responsible if she gets away. It's a murder charge, there's no use in prolonging this thing. Take her away..."

"I don't think there's enough evidence—material evidence—to convict," countered Nugent coolly. "Enough evidence!" snorted the District Attorney. "What more do you want? There's the hypodermic."

"We haven't made sure that she had one." "You will! No use asking her, she'd only lie. Yes, and you!" he pounced on her, his eyes angry, bright slits in his red face. "You are putting her up to it. Well, we'll take care of you, too. Besides, there's the witness..."

"Nicky Senou," remarked Nugent softly. "And he says he won't swear to it. Besides, he didn't see her kill him. He said only that she was in the library with Brent..."

"He said they were having a row. That kind of thing goes a long way with a jury. But he's a fool. Nugent! You'll get the evidence. But put the girl under arrest; make sure you've got her. All the evidence in the world don't do you any good later if you've let the girl who did it get away. Arrest her..."

"I'll take her into custody," said the Lieutenant slowly.

"Custody! What do you mean by that?" "I'll keep her here, in her room. Under guard," declared Nugent. "And in the end, incredibly, that was exactly what he did. But first they questioned her again, and made me leave before they began. I retired ungracefully and sat on the bench in the hall watching the door."

Never before in my nursing experience have I let anything come between me and my patient but frankly, while I sat there, eyes glued to the door of that room, trying and failing to hear anything but a rapid murmur of voices, I didn't care whether Craig Brent lived or died, I hated him for being the cause of Drue's presence in that ill-omened house.

Once I did go upstairs. The door to Craig's room was open and I peeked in cautiously. Peter Huber was sitting in a chair beside him, smoking. Anna was standing at the window, her back toward the room and her head bent with a handkerchief to her eyes. Craig and Peter were talking in low voices. Craig looked all right, certainly the authorities were not hounding him. I went quickly back to the bench downstairs and they were still in the little morning room.

I was there when they emerged. Drue was drawn-looking; her lips were chalky. She looked at me with haunted eyes. They took her straight upstairs, and put her in her room, under guard.

I followed. Soper, giving me a suspicious look, had turned into the library.

Nugent couldn't have failed to see that my room connected with Drue's. But the trooper already on guard didn't stop me when I entered my own room. And of course I went straight through the bathroom to Drue.

She was standing in the middle of the room, facing the door, head up, hands clenched at her sides as if at bay. When she heard me she whirled and suddenly crumpled down on the bed. "Oh, Sarah, Sarah, what shall I do?"

I sat down on the bed beside her and took her hands. "What have you told them? What did they make you say? Tell me."

In the end it wasn't too bad; which is to say it could have been worse but not much.

They had questioned her at length, but "I kept saying I didn't know. I remembered what you said, and told them I wanted a lawyer." She pressed her hands over her face. "Funny," she said unevenly, "how hard it is to evade making a direct statement. You employ all the spirit of lying and yet you can't make yourself conquer the fact."

Well, I said what I could which was little enough. I told her we'd get a lawyer. I told her they had nothing but circumstantial evidence.

"But they convict people on circumstantial evidence. Don't they, Sarah?"

Just then there was a knock on the door, and it was the trooper Wilkins, the man on guard. He said they wanted us to come to Craig's room.

"Right away, please," the trooper added.

When we entered Craig's room, he gave us both a remote and impersonal look; Drue might have been the barest acquaintance, certainly anything but a woman who was once his wife.

District Attorney Soper was there, suspicious the instant his eyes fell upon Drue again. Nugent was also on hand and the trooper with the shorthand tablet. Anna was hovering in a corner but Peter had gone. After a closer glance at Craig I sent Anna away and took up my post at his side with my fingers on his pulse. "I did feel a wave of compunction. There was a flare of color in his cheeks and his eyes were too bright."

"I sent for you, Miss Kate," he said, "and for Drue. I thought this concerned both of you."

"I'm afraid you'll have to be quick," I told Nugent. "Ten minutes..."

Drue went over to stand in the shadow of the window curtains; the light fell upon her white skirt and her face was in the shadow.

"We weren't going to question you, if we could help it, until you were better," began Nugent.

"All right," said Craig. "But first, exactly what is your case against Miss Cable?"

"I'll tell you," answered Lieutenant Nugent, and did: Drue had quarreled with Conrad Brent; she had held him responsible for her separation from her husband; "that is," said Nugent "from you, Mr. Brent..." She had had digitalis; the medicine was missing from its customary place, and there was the mark which might be that of a hypodermic needle on the body of Conrad Brent. He explained, that, since no one else knew anything of the missing box of pills, there was only one construction that could be placed upon their absence, plus the hypodermic and the fatal amount of digitalis found in Conrad Brent's body. And that was that Drue had removed the medicine to administer a fatal dose of digitalis.

"Am I to understand then that your whole theory is based upon a presumption that Miss Cable came here with the purpose of effecting a reconciliation with—with me, and that her purpose was so overwhelmingly strong that she murdered my father because he opposed her?" There was an edge in Craig's voice. He went on, "Because that's out of the question. As a motive that is preposterous. Neither Miss Cable nor I have any desire to remarry."

"Then why," asked Soper, "did she quarrel with your father?"

Craig lifted his eyebrows. "Quarrel with my father? That was no difficult achievement."

"Really, Mr. Brent," said Soper looking shocked. "Your father..."

"I know, I know," cut in Craig. "But though this is an inquiry into murder; there's a duty towards the living, too. However, it is likely that my father asked her to leave and she resented being kicked out. But so far your evidence is altogether circumstantial. You can't prove..."

"There I beg to differ with you," interrupted Soper. "If we find her hypodermic outfit and it has contained digitalis..."

Craig said quickly, "But you haven't found it. And even so, she wasn't here the night an attempt was made to murder me." He looked terribly grim around the mouth.

Appreciably different bidding was done at the other table in a team match, but the same contract reached, and in each case the lead was the club Q, the K being overtaken by the A and the diamond 3 being returned to prevent ruffs. At this table, the diamond A and K were scored quickly, the club 8 ruffed in dummy, and the contract staked on an even break of spades, the A being followed by the K and Q. When West ruffed the Q with the diamond Q, South knew he was beaten, for the spade J was still out as a trick winner.

At the other table, where South also saw that a small slam was certain if both diamonds and spades would break evenly, he played as if he knew both were divided unevenly. Winning the diamond return to the second trick with the A, he ruffed the club 8 with the diamond 8, scored the spade A and K, then led the spade 6, prepared to trump it in dummy. Now it made no difference whether West ruffed this or discarded. The contract was safe. Actually West trumped with the spade Q and returned a heart, which South ruffed. The diamond K settled the outstanding trumps and the spades now set up, since the Q could drop the J on the fourth round.

War Manpower Commission Forsee No Increase Soon To Aid Vets Seeking Jobs In Civilian Shoe Supply

Special to Central Press

WASHINGTON—The War Manpower Commission, which had the job of finding men for jobs in war production, now is planning how to find jobs for war workers and war veterans when peace comes.

While continuing to recruit labor for war industry—200,000 workers still are needed to fill gaps today—WMC is planning to have its United States Employment Service become a job-finding agency after the war.

The scheme is to have USES gather data on the availability of jobs throughout the nation, for use when returning servicemen and displaced war workers seek placement aid.

Many individuals, of course, are expected to find their own jobs, but the USES facilities will be available, just as they were in the depression days.

Meanwhile, WMC is cataloging needs of "must" war activities to facilitate recruitment of workers. Of the 200,000 still needed, by far the largest percentage wanted are laborers to do such tasks as heavy hauling and digging.

IF ATTORNEY GENERAL FRANCIS BIDDLE rules that businessmen connected with the disposal of surplus property cannot go back to business for a long time after leaving government work, there is likely to be a mass resignation in the surplus property set-up.

The ruling would be to prevent any possibility that businessmen might suddenly go back to private undertakings and use their specialized knowledge against more uninformed competitors.

The rule hindering Leo Crowley, Marriner Eccles and other officials in the federal reserve system to two years' inactivity in their fields after they leave the government is for the same reason.

PROSPECTIVE SUPPLIES of nitrogen and phosphate fertilizers for use on 1945 crops have declined since midsummer, as a result of greatly increased military use of materials required for the manufacture of those fertilizers, but substantially increased supplies of potash are expected to be available.

MILITARY SHOE REQUIREMENTS are still high enough to preclude any substantial increase in the civilian shoe supply in the near future, but what is worrying the government most is production of infants', misses' and children's footwear.

Although the civilian program for August was met for infants' sizes, and fell only slightly for children's and misses' sizes, WPB fears that a further drop occurred in September. Manpower shortages and scarcity of leather both continue to plague the shoe industry.

OFFICIAL NORWEGIAN SOURCES in Washington expect their homeland to be cleared of the Nazi invaders in less than three months.

These sources predict that civil affairs in Norway will be handed over to the exiled government by the Russian Army in that time.

According to an agreement concluded by the London Norwegian government with Russia and other Allied governments an "interior zone" will be established under complete Norwegian control, as was done recently in France by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

LIMBER UP for a new run of fishing yarns, because more fishing rods, reels and other paraphernalia will probably be reaching the market in a short time.

This will be the result of the WPB action in revoking an order controlling the production of non-commercial fishing tackle. Except for fish hooks, production of fishing tackle and parts have been prohibited since May 31, 1942.

PLEASE DON'T FORGET About My Eyes!

"I KNOW you older folks are busier than you ever were before. But I've only got the one pair of eyes—and if you don't help me take care of them, you and I may both regret it some day."

It's a fact that many people are too busy—and too worried to take the simple precautions that help conserve precious eyesight. Here are four easy rules anyone can follow.

1 Do all reading, studying, sewing, or game-playing close to a good light source, preferably a modern reading lamp.

2 Avoid glare from bare bulbs. Don't sit facing the light. Glare strains eyes.

3 Avoid shadows. Make sure you have good light directly on your book or work. Shadows strain eyes.

4 Have eyes examined regularly. If eyes are defective, vision can be greatly helped with proper glasses.

When the war is over we are all going to have Better Light for Better Sight. In the meantime, let's conserve both eyesight and light. Take care of your eyes, but don't waste light.

Obituary

Gertrude Pearl, daughter of George W. and Louise M. Walston (Adkins) was born April 11, 1889 near Five Points, Ohio, died on October 20, 1944, aged 55 years 6 months, 19 days. She lived her entire life on the same farm. She was reared by parents who taught her to attend church and Sunday school from her youth up and the early training caused her to follow up that course through her entire life.

She united with the Methodist church of Five Points when but a more child and has always made that church her choice and has always attended both Sunday school and church as long as her health would permit.

On November 25, 1935 she was united in marriage to Harry Long, of her home community and spent almost 25 years of happy married life with him. To this union three sons were born. One son died in infancy another son at the age of five years.

Besides the husband, she leaves one son Ned and his wife Betty, two sisters Mrs. Elvira Dennis and Mrs. Elizabeth Winifred. She was also deeply devoted to Mrs. Carl Dugleson, a girl who lived with her until her mother died and especially interested in her little daughter Marilyn whom she classed as her little grandchild. Together with many other relatives and friends. She will be sadly missed in the home and by her friends of the community.

She was a devoted wife, a loving mother and a kind friend, but sad to say, she is no more.

God in his wisdom has recalled. The home his love has given, Though the body slumbers here, Her soul is safe in Heaven.

CARD OF THANKS

We desire to express our heartfelt thanks to all who assisted us in any way during the sickness and after the death of our wife and mother. The funeral services were directed and the beautiful floral offerings.

CONNIE MACK FAILS TO BUY MINNEAPOLIS CLUB

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 9.—Connie Mack, veteran manager of the Philadelphia Athletics, had announced today that his negotiations for the Minneapolis club of the American Association had not "materialized."

"We just didn't feel we could go ahead at this time," Mack said.

Connie also declared he will leave Philadelphia this month for a two or three month trip to California. This announcement was seen as an indication in some quarters that Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, baseball commissioner, would shortly permit club managers to choose Spring training sites without any geographical limitations.

TIGERS TO END '44 GRID SEASON FRIDAY NIGHT

CHS Squad In Good Shape For Final Game At Washington C. H.

Circleville high school Tigers Thursday were getting ready to end the 1944 football season with a victory.

Over at Washington C. H. the Blue Lions also are getting ready to end their season with a victory. The Friday night opponents of the Tigers have not won a game this season while the local club has lost only once. But when the Tigers make their second road trip of the season they can expect a warm reception.

Washington C. H. usually finishes high in the South Central Ohio standings and the Blue Lions are very dissatisfied with their lonesome spot at the bottom of the league. A victory in their last game would do a lot to erase the memories of a dismal season.

Here's a paragraph from the Washington C. H. Record-Herald which expresses the feeling of the Lion squad:

"They went at their workout for the Circleville game with a new determination. They knew they were outclassed at Findlay (the Lion lost 65-0) but they feel they are in their own class with the Circleville boys. They have more than the mere satisfaction of winning a game at stake. They have a deep seated desire to show those who have supported them in defeat that they have the courage to fight to the finish against odds. The Blue Lions are under no illusions about Circleville's Tigers. They know they will be no push-over."

Thursday's rain threatened to continue and a wet field may be in prospect Friday at Washington. That is not worrying the Tigers too much. In all the games played so far on wet fields the Tigers came out winners.

The Tigers are determined to finish up the season with a victory. It's the last game for 11 seniors and they want to end their careers winners.

Coach Roy Black said Thursday the squad apparently was in better shape for the game Friday than in any recent game. A three-way fight has developed for the end position left vacant by the departure of Dave Gillis for military service. Choice for the starting position opposite Jim Dade lies between Galen Valentine, Ed Strawser and Jack Stout.

Leon Sims' injured leg is improving and he is expected to be able to go most of the game. The injured ankle of Jim Wells is practically well and he should turn in his best game of the season in his last appearance in a Circleville uniform.

On the ailing list are Joe Anderson, who is threatened with appendicitis, and Bill Weller, who has a bad knee. Both are seniors.

Outside of left end, the lineup will be about the same as usual for the last game. Dade will be at right end; Connally and Lovenheimer; tackles; Wells and Richardson or Shaw; guards; Coffland, center; Sims, Heath, Hennis and Hill in the backfield.

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK

By R. J. SCOTT

Grove at the Ambassador Hotel last June, he got up and sang with Freddie Martin's orchestra. The agent was there, heard him, and signed him up on the back of a menu. Actually, Jack Benny put the boy under contract early in July before he went overseas, but from the standpoint of program interest, he "auditioned" Frank Sinatra, John Charles Thomas, and other various and sundry singers before he "found" Larry.

JORY HAS TWO GUESTS

An action-packed original drama will be Broadway actor Victor Jory's vehicle when he appears on "Grand Central Station," on Saturday. Jory, now combining a radio and stage career, will have as his network co-stars Charita Bauer and Berry Kroeger.

EDDIE ARNOLD GUEST

"Cattle Call," that haunting melody which consistently tops the request list of Eddie Arnold, the Tennessee Plowboy, will be Arnold's solo selection, when he appears as Roy Acuff's guest on "Grand Ole Opry," Saturday.

RADIO NEWS NOTES

After his recent appearance as a guest judge on Dunninger's half hour of mind-reading marvels, Garry Moore invited the Master Mentalist to his home, to demonstrate his amazing telepathic talent to Jimmy Durante, Roy Barry, Georgia Gibbs and other members of the Durante-Moore comedy cast. Everything went well until Dunninger got to Durante. "Aha!" gloated Jimmy. "Ya can't read my mind! I guess ya just ain't used to readin' small print!"

Latest convert to scriptural crime on "Mr. and Mrs. North" is Ken Delmar, the murderer on the recent Wednesday thriller.

STEVENS IS HAPPY

Probably the happiest young man in this country is 21-year-old Larry Stevens, recently selected as the singing successor to Dennis Day on Jack Benny's radio program. After a build-up by Benny in which his first five programs of the season revolved around a search for someone to fill the singing spot, he came up with Larry, a high baritone, recently discharged from the AAF and formerly a gas-station attendant in Los Angeles. Though most of his life was spent in Los Angeles, young Stevens was born in San Francisco. He had had no previous professional experience and was discovered by an agent who brought him to Mary Livingstone—the discoverer of Dennis Day some six years ago. Though Larry had had no formal musical education, he had been given voice training by his mother who was a music student in her college a generation ago. The occasion of Larry's discovery was when, as a paying customer at the Coconut

Judith Abbott, who plays "Agnes Lawson" in "The Aldrich Family," was assistant to the producer of the new George Abbott play, "Snafu," now achieving smash hit proportions on Broadway. Another member of "The Aldrich Family," Billy Redfield, who plays Charlie Clark on that program, is the star of "Snafu."

TWO CONCERTS
TO BE PRESENTED
BY SYMPHONY

Women's Orchestra To Appear Friday At High School

Two concerts will be presented by the Kryn Women's Symphony Orchestra of Chicago in the Cincinnati high school auditorium Friday afternoon. Concerts are scheduled at 1:15 and 2:30 p. m.

The general public is invited to attend along with school children from all over the city. Adult tickets may be secured at Principal J. Wray Henry's office in the high school.

Conductor of the orchestra is Bohumir Kryn, famed Czech musician who has been conducting his own musical organization for 40 years. He has been with concert orchestras for 48 years.

In 1943 he inaugurated an innovation, an all-girl symphony orchestra. The feminine group, consisting of some of the finest women concert musicians in the country, made its debut in September, 1943. It was an instant success.

The orchestra recently completed a tour covering more than 100 Army camps as well as appearances at colleges, schools and before civic organizations.
